Dear Client Name

Cash Warning - SIPP REF

I am writing to you because more than 25% of the funds in your SIPP NAME SIPP were held in cash, or investments that are similar to cash, as at 8 August 2025 and your fund is at risk of being eroded by inflation.

Here is an example of how inflation erosion would affect a fund of £10,000 held in cash, or investments similar to cash, over 10 years, assuming 0% interest, and assuming inflation each year at the current rate of the Consumer Prices Index (CPI):

Initial fund value:

£10,000

Assumed inflation rate:

4.20% each year

Value after 10 years:

£6,627.09

You should consider whether your current investments are likely to grow sufficiently to meet your objectives. Your SIPP can hold different types of investment, which have a different balance of risk relative to potential gain. The value of investments can fall as well as rise.

Your financial adviser will be able to explain the different investments, and you may wish to speak to them about the options available to you.

Please note that this cash warning is for information only – it is not financial advice.

If you have any questions, please contact your financial adviser.

Yours sincerely
